

THE RAGLAN SCHOOL 1928-1949

REMINISCENCES from 21st Anniversary

Chairman of Edmonton Education Committee,
Opening of the School in 1927 and in 1935

As I recall many years of Public Service covering the war and peace periods, pleasant and unpleasant events become very vivid in my memories. It is indeed with pride that I am able to associate myself with the members of the Edmonton Education Committee, who were actively engaged on the occupation and final completion of the building of the Raglan Road School.

There were many preliminary matters which had to be carried out in a step by step process, between the period of the decision of the Committee, to build the Raglan School and the laying of the first brick. Many other items during the period of the erection of the School demanded the constant attention of all members and officials, co-operation and the enthusiasm of all ensured the success which was finally achieved.

The opening day in March, 1928, of the Raglan Road School marked the first of the many achievements carried out by the Education Committee.

From the opening day to the School's 21st Anniversary, the Committee have been very fortunate in their appointments of the teaching staff and it has been most gratifying to have observed the successes and accomplishments of its pupils who have now passed into the active life of full citizenship.

To all teachers and pupils of the Raglan Road School, my hearty congratulations on reaching its 21st Anniversary and my sincere good wishes for success to all pupils who attend this school.
