- Key
- In-service training for staff - no children in school
 - School holiday (incl. half term) - no children in school
 - Children return to school
 - Last day of term or half term.

Holidays are not permitted in term time.
Holidays in term time disrupt your child's education and school attendance is judged by Ofsted and the Authority's Education Welfare Officer.

The Governing Body permits the head to authorize up to ten days absence in truly exceptional circumstances with the following conditions:

- 1) that the request is genuinely exceptional and a one-off request;
- 2) that there is at least 95% attendance in the current academic year and at least 95% in previous years;
- 3) a form to request special leave is available from the School Office or available online and must be completed with reasons and evidence. Please note that the head may not authorize requests where the reasons provided include cheaper flights, weddings, holidays and so on; exceptional circumstances usually include music or sporting exams, medical appointments, bereavement or severe illness. The head's decision is final.
- 4) The school publishes term dates well in advance and has included inset days either side of the summer half term holiday

This calendar is available on A3 by request at the school office.
